

Design for Europe

Discover design thinking for education and how to make the most from Erasmus+

Welcome!

We look for passionate teachers and school staff from all over the world willing to experience a 4-day international training, organised in Bologna by Fondazione Golinelli and Uniser.

We will discover together the Design Thinking approach and how to make the most of it in education and Erasmus + learning mobility projects.

When, where, cost

The training course will be in English and will take place on 25-28 June 2019 in Bologna – Italy.

The participation fee will be 550 euro including Hotel accommodation for 4 nights and most of the meals (breakfast & coffee breaks for 4 days, 3 lunches and 2 dinners). The training course is eligible to be funded by Erasmus + KA1 mobility grants.

The international summer school is open to up to 5 Italian teachers. For Italian teachers and school staff the cost will be 130€ (including training, lunches and coffee break, toolkit). The course will also be available on Sofia-Miur platform.

What is Design Thinking?

In short, Design Thinking is a creative innovation process developed at Stanford, used by different teachers and schools around the world to design human (student) – centred and project-based learning experiences.

Objectives:

International context, capacity building via peer learning, and expert trainers will be the main ingredients of the week. The objectives? To discover the Design Thinking approach for education and to exchange good practices and working tools among practitioners, to develop new partnerships and project ideas, and to get inspired for opening our schools to Europe.
